THE PRACTICE NURSE

“A practice nurse is a registered nurse/midwife working in general practice who provides professional holistic health care within his/her scope of nursing and midwifery practice, to the practice population.” Irish Practice Nurses Association.

There are approximately 1,800 Practice Nurses in Ireland who are carrying out immunisations, screening, health promotion, phlebotomy, weight management, smoking cessation, women's health, men's health, antenatal & postnatal care, wound management, travel vaccinations, cryotherapy, counselling, stress management, ear care, methadone maintenance; management of chronic conditions such as asthma, COPD, diabetes, cardiovascular disease, eczema; as well as clinical audits, practice protocols, CPR training, etc.

211 Practice Nurses are accredited as Clinical Nurse Specialists (CNS), 2 have been accredited as Registered Advanced Nurse Practitioners (RANP) in Primary Care with another 4 candidates currently going through the accreditation process. 22 Practice Nurses are now Registered Nurse Prescribers and a further 10 have begun nurse prescribing programmes.

The positive impact of practice nursing on patient care is regularly noted and has been shown in audits and research (see Research page of IPNA website).

With the Department of Health & Children's continuing emphasis and strategic plans to move many services out of hospitals and into community settings, Practice Nurses are now being presented with an increasing variety of conditions and patient needs. Continuing Nurse Education enables Practice Nurses to provide evidence-based quality care and is essential before undertaking extended nursing roles.

QUALIFICATIONS NEEDED

Minimum Requirements:

As with all nurses in Ireland, registration with the Nursing and Midwifery Board of Ireland (NMBI - formerly An Bord Altranais) is mandatory in order to practise as a Registered Nurse or Registered Midwife.

In order for the GP employer to avail of the Practice Nurse subsidy, the Practice Nurse must be a Registered General Nurse (RGN).

Additional Qualifications:

The range of nursing care and extended roles which may be provided by a Practice Nurse is extensive. Each Practice Nurse, like all other nurses, must practise within his/her own Scope of Practice, (see "Scope of Nursing and Midwifery Practice Framework, 2000", available from An Bord Altranais and "must take measures to develop and maintain the competence necessary for professional practice" (Code of Conduct, available from An Bord Altranais). Therefore, Practice Nurses have a responsibility to ensure that they are suitably qualified and competent to undertake all aspects of their role. The autonomous nature of practice nursing means that issues pertaining to the Scope of Practice require constant reflection and vigilance on the part of the individual nurse.

Any Practice Nurse who provides antenatal care must be a Registered Midwife, i.e. on the current Midwives Register of An Bord Altranais. There is also a requirement for a Practice Nurse who is a midwife to notify their local HSE office of their intention to practice midwifery in the community. For further information, please refer to the An Bord Altranais document "Practice Standards for Midwives", 2010.

SOME FACTS & FIGURES ABOUT PRACTICE NURSING IN IRELAND

- 51% of IPNA members are dual qualified, i.e. registered on 1 or more An Bord Altranais divisions in addition to the RGN division<sup>1</sup>.
- 88% of IPNA members have undertaken post-registration education or skills updates (ranging from certificates to PhDs) in clinical areas that are relevant to Practice Nursing<sup>1</sup>.
- There are currently 1,800 Practice Nurses working in the Republic of Ireland<sup>2</sup>.
- 211 Practice Nurses are accredited as Clinical Nurse Specialists (CNS) in Primary Care<sup>3</sup>.
- 2 Practice Nurses are accredited as Registered Advanced Nurse Practitioners (RANP) in Primary Care<sup>3</sup>.
- 22 Practice Nurses are now Registered Nurse Prescribers<sup>6</sup>.
- Practice Nurses carried out 47% of cervical smears in the year to August 2009<sup>5</sup>

The Irish Practice Nurses Association, (I.P.N.A.)

The Irish Practice Nurses Association (IPNA) is a professional membership association of Practice Nurses and was granted Charitable Tax Exemption (CHY 17932) in June 2008. The main objective of the association “is the advancement of education in general practice in Ireland by promoting and assisting nurses in further education programmes and to provide a forum for the dissemination of information on developments in the general Practice Nursing field which will promote the highest standards of care to benefit the community.”

From its humble beginnings in the early 1990s as a small group of Practice Nurses who decided to meet regularly to share ideas and information, it has expanded steadily and there are now 21 Branches nationwide holding monthly educational meetings.

Aside from the very much appreciated help from the National Council in hosting our first website, the IPNA has never received any grants or funding from the Department of Health. The growth and successful development of the IPNA can be solely attributed to the hard work of many dedicated Practice Nurses who have given so generously of their own time over the years. The IPNA is also immensely grateful to the many generous sponsors of our branch meetings, Annual Conference and some of our educational awards.

The IPNA logo was designed in 1990 by Kate MacCormack (daughter of Netta Williams - one of the IPNA's founding members) when she was a 1st year student in the National College of Art & Design. The four people represent a family and the hand behind them represents the Practice Nurse supporting the family. The hand also symbolises the "hands-on" clinical nursing care provided by Practice Nurses.

WHAT OTHERS SAY ABOUT THE IPNA

"We recognise the enormous contribution that the IPNA makes in promoting education and professional development for Practice Nurses. This contribution has supported Practice Nurses to have access to a wide range of educational opportunities."

Kathleen Mac Lellan, Head of Professional Development, National Council for the Professional Development of Nursing & Midwifery.

RECOMMENDATIONS FROM EXISTING IPNA MEMBERS

"After 15yrs membership I am still attending meetings and learning all the time. Peer support and excellent clinical up-dates helped me to establish and maintain my role. Any isolation in practice that I felt initially was soon alleviated by shared experiences, depth of knowledge and generosity of spirit that was shown by all members. IPNA membership continues to be a positive and enriching experience for me." IPNA member (North East)

"As practice nurses, we often work alone amongst a team of other professionals. It is great to have the support of an organisation that is always there for advice and help. The Cork branch has been amazing and really enhances my enjoyment of the job. The journal is useful, the meetings are also useful and the clinical days the Cork branch has organised have been fantastic." IPNA Member (Cork)

"I have found the text alerts re education ... invaluable. I would never hear about these things without being a member of the IPNA. Meetings are a nice opportunity to meet other nurses and to compare the different roles we play within various practices because as we know every place of work is different!!" IPNA member (Cork)

"I joined the IPNA Louth Meath group 3 years ago when I was new to practice nursing. The support I received from networking with other practice nurses was invaluable. I have remained an active member since and look forward to our meetings which are always interesting, educational and benefit me greatly. The regular emails keep me updated to new changes in practice and new courses available to attend. I would feel very isolated as a practice nurse without the IPNA." IPNA member (Louth/Meath)

"The IPNA is a terrific resource for new practice nurses and for those not so new. It assists me in my professional development through regular educational meetings and the email alerts keep me up to date with what's going on. The association is invaluable in terms of peer support and friendship as many PNs work in isolation" IPNA member (North East)

PRACTICE NURSING IN THE FUTURE

Nurse Prescribing

Practice Nurses were involved in the Pilot Project on Nurse Prescribing and the IPNA made a submission to the Consultation Process on the Extension of Prescriptive Authority to Nurses and Midwives. 11 IPNA members are now Registered Nurse Prescribers (2012) and there are 22 Practice Nurses in total who are RNPs (2014).

Primary Care Teams

The IPNA, PDCs and Practice Nurse Section of the INMO have been working to ensure that the Practice Nurse role is fully included in the development of the Primary Care Teams around the country. Two Practice Nurses are currently chairpersons of their local Primary Care Team.
